Cultural sector develops wish list

Jenn Watt

Haliburton's cultural sector wants more support from government and opportunities to share knowledge amongst themselves.

Webinars, mentoring, a joint insurance policy and better documentation of what works and what doesn't were some of the ideas that floated up during a brainstorming session at the Haliburton Highlands Museum on Oct. 17.

As part of Dysart's implementation of its cultural plan, a group session was organized to get representatives from a range of groups together to talk about how the municipality can help maintain and improve its cultural sector.

Planner Pat Martin opened the session by reminding everyone of what culture means; it's not just art and music.

"Yes, we are a hockey town. Yes, we are a curling town and yes, we have wonderful yoga studios and massage studios and that's all part of the vibrancy of this community," she said, pointing out that recreation, sport, health and wellness alongside traditional arts and heritage make up Haliburton's culture.

As such, representatives were present from

Hats for Hides is back

Hats for Hides is back in Haliburton. For this service to continue for another year, it is up to the hunter to look after the hide and provide a clean, unspoiled skin. All excess fat and meat must be off, feet and head removed, no leaves, pine needles, dirt or bloodshot on it.

It should be ready to lay out flat and salted.

There is a free orange hat with crest for a large, unspoiled deer hide or a complete moose hide. There is a crest only for small deer hides less than seven square feet or a No. 3 hide, which is a large hide with cuts in it. A hide is of no value if it has more than four holes in it, or cuts larger than 10 inches, has a bad odour or hair slippage.

Bear hides are not accepted.

If the hide is to sit around for a few days, to keep it from spoiling, you can put salt on it and keep it dry or you can freeze it. You have to have it unthawed to bring it here; remember it takes a couple of days to unthaw. Do not leave it laying on the ground or sitting in a garbage bag. If you look after your hide like you look after the meat, then the hide will be good.

New this year, you can purchase hats without a hide. During the gun hunt for moose and deer we do not have regular business hours. We will be open between 5 to 7 p.m. and on Sundays or by chance. You can phone at 705-457-2471. We are at 15075 Highway 118 east of Haliburton.

Police find large marijuana stash near Haliburton

Police have seized a large amount of marijuana from a residence on Loon Lake Road.

According to a press release from the Haliburton OPP, officers were tipped off to the stash when they stopped a vehicle in Dysart et al.

"As a result," the press release says, "a large quantity of marijuana was seized and a male from Markham was arrested and taken into custody."

The next day, police executed a search warrant at the Loon Lake place and found about 70 marijuana plants. In all, police say the drugs were worth $100,000.

The 56-year-old man from Markham was charged with possession of a controlled substance for the purpose of trafficking; production of a controlled substance; and possession of proceeds of a crime.

He is scheduled to appear in Minden on Oct. 24 to answer to the charges.

Police looking for driver who hit pedestrian

Haliburton Highlands OPP want the public's help in finding someone involved in hitting a pedestrian in Haliburton.

On Oct. 12 around 12:45 p.m., a 16-year-old Haliburton resident was hit by a car while he was crossing Highland Street.

The man driving the car stopped briefly and spoke to the teen before leaving the scene.

Witnesses say the car was a grey sports car, possibly a Mercedes.

The teen was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

Anyone with information should call 705-286-1431, or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS or online www.khcs.ca. You could be eligible for a cash reward of $2,000.

healthy living and outdoors groups alongside the gallery, school of the arts and theatre members.

"The municipal cultural plan provides direction to leverage the cultural resources of the community and build a stronger, more vibrant and culturally sustainable centre. That's what we're working towards," Martin said.

The meeting involved roundtable discussions with ideas jotted down and referred back to the larger group at the end.

Cultural resources committee member Laurie Jones said the meeting was the first of many planned to get stakeholders talking.

"We think that the idea of these types of meetings are just one of the myriad strategies that could be employed to let the cultural organism that is in Dysart grow and flourish," she said.

The cultural plan for the municipality includes four goals - to promote local history; to leverage what exists for economic development; to strengthen networks and collaboration; and to broaden Dysart's role in helping cultural groups and building partnerships with businesses and "community interests."

Stakeholders were asked to outline what they would like the municipality to provide to them.

Much of the discussion focused on collaboration and the ways Dysart could make it easier to run events and get people engaged.

In his group, Larry Giles of the Haliburton Highlands Historical Society pointed out that when he needed a lottery licence for a fundraiser, he had to go to each municipality, and each has a different department to handle issuing licences.

Sue Shikaze of the local health unit pointed out that it's getting harder to find shared community space for activities and liability insurance is also required even of small groups that just want to get together for something as simple as a pick-up basketball game.

She also offered a suggestion for vacant storefronts in Haliburton Village: offer them to the arts council to fill until a new tenant comes along.

Andrea Percy, a Rails End Gallery volunteer, said that in Lindsay, during the studio tour season, each downtown business offers some storefront space to allow artists to display their works - brightening the downtown and advertising the tour.

In other groups, suggestions also focused on better support for the plethora of groups engaged in cultural activities.

Other suggestions included providing business-style resources to the sector including governance, marketing, grant applications and the possibility of skill sharing through mentoring and webinars.

An insurance policy for events was mentioned along with better brand development, as well as documenting the economic impact of cultural events and infusing the cultural sector with more business skills.

There are plans to continue the meetings periodically, which most in the room seemed eager to see.

Aside from the community meetings, the municipality has a host of other responsibilities to do with the plan.

"Next year we plan to expand this to a region focus so we would be going beyond Dysart's boundary and networking with neighbouring municipalities," said Martin.

Recent improvements to Head Lake Park including washrooms and wifi Internet access were examples of what's been done in the year since the plan was passed by council.

HKPR looks at healthy kids report

Angelica Blenich
Staff reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed at the Oct. 17 board meeting of the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

A new report is looking at the rising trend of obese children in Ontario and its impact on communities.

In her presentation No Time to Wait: The Healthy Kids Strategy, health promoter Lisa Kaldewey provided a background to the province's strategy in dealing with an epidemic that is occurring with kids throughout Ontario.

"We've seen significant increases in children's obesity," said Kaldewey.

The report released by Ontario's Ministry of Health and Long Term Care, provides recommendations on how, moving forward, the province can help improve the overall health of children and youth.

"The province has committed to a 20 per cent reduction in childhood obesity by 2018," said Kaldewey.

To do this the panel said specific factors contributing to childhood obesity would have to be recognized and targeted, she said.

As a result, a three-part strategy was released, which includes starting all kids on a path to health, changing food environments and creating healthy communities.

To ensure those strategies happen, Kaldewey said a number of things must take place, including making every child's health a priority, investing in child health and using evidence to monitor progress and ensure accountability.

So far the responses to the report have been mostly positive, especially from public health officials, said Kaldewey.

"The Healthy Kids Panel report is very nutrition heavy. It is recognized that there are major changes needed to the food environment," she told the board.

Province commits funds

Dr. Lynn Noseworthy delivered some encouraging news to board members regarding new legislation preventing those under 18 from using tanning beds.

The medical officer of health for HKPR said the provincial government recently passed a bill prohibiting minors from using tanning beds, due to health risks.

"We're all thrilled this legislation has gone through," said Noseworthy.

The HKPR board passed resolutions twice in favour of banning minors from using tanning beds, she said.

Other updates included a provincial commitment of $3 million to the student nutrition program.

"They're investing an additional $3 million as part of the healthy kids strategy ... to create more than 200 new breakfast and morning meal programs across the province," said Noseworthy.

Another $2.5 million was being committed to a breastfeeding initiative, which will include a 24-hour telephone support number for breastfeeding moms, training for hospitals and resources.

Economy, trade, throne speech highlights

➤ Local MP discusses key aspects of the throne speech and the future of the Senate

Jenn Watt
Editor

The speech from the throne delivered last week in the House of Commons has little specifically for places like Haliburton, says local MP Barry Devolin, with a focus on Canada more generally.

"The government has reiterated the commitment to balance the budget," Devolin said in an interview after the speech was read by Governor General David Johnston Oct. 16.

"Further, there was a commitment to introduce balanced budget legislation, which is the first time that commitment has been made."

The government intends on passing a bill that will force future governments into staying in the black unless circumstances arise that require running deficits.

Critics have pointed out that any future government can break those rules easily, however, Devolin said it's not the rules the government should worry about, but the public.

"Future governments can always change laws, but I don't think it will happen easily because they would have to explain [to the public] at that point," he said.

Much has been made of the consumer regulations portions of the speech including unbundling cable TV packages and reducing roaming charges for cellphones.

Devolin said he understands why those items are getting so much traction - largely because they are so tangible - but prefers to focus on larger-scale issues such as the economy and the recent Canada-Europe trade agreement, which was announced the same day as the throne speech was read.

It's not intended to be a specific document with very specific things. It's intended to be broad strokes.

— Barry Devolin on the throne speech

"Twenty years from now, when people look back, the Canada-Europe trade agreement will be one of the three major accomplishments of the Harper government," he said.

The agreement hasn't been finalized, but much has been made of the deal with Harper flying to Brussels to make the announcement with the head of the European Union on Friday.

Bob Stinson, head of the Haliburton chapter of CARP, said his group gives a positive review of several of the measures in the speech, including investment in dementia research, prohibiting fees on paper bills and expanding no-cost banking services.

However, he noted that CARP was looking for enhancements to the Canadian Pension Plan, which many retirees rely on almost exclusively.

Devolin said he couldn't comment directly on Stinson's concerns, since he hadn't seen CARP's critique. However, he said CPP as a program is sound and called a debate on whether to increase payments a "legitimate one."

Other throne speech highlights included giving added rights to the victims of crimes, giving honorary citizenship to Pakistani women's rights activist Malala Yousafzai and strengthening the voting system.

The speech was nothing splashy or too exciting, Devolin said, noting that it's intended to reflect broad goals of the government rather than specific programs, which are usually revealed at budget time.

"It's not intended to be a specific document with very specific things. It's intended to be broad strokes," he said.

While some have suggested the Harper Conservatives are hoping the trade agreement and throne speech will take the pressure off the Senate scandal involving three Conservative senators, the MP doesn't think that's possible.

"The Senate is news whether we like it or not," he said.

While the short-term story is whether the senators broke the rules claiming expenses ineligible for reimbursement, the long-term one will be what to do with the Senate in general.

Devolin said he is in favour of reform - an elected Red Chamber.

"I personally am not a supporter of the status quo in the Senate," he said.

Our Man in Tehran directors to join HIFF

Jenn Watt
Editor

It started with a casual conversation between former Miss Universe Canada and a retired Canadian ambassador and ended with an expansive documentary premiering at the Toronto International Film Festival and making its way to Haliburton Nov. 2.

In between was a frenzied whirlwind production schedule involving a former Canadian prime minister, a former American president, and a host of key players in the 1979 Iranian Hostage Crisis.

It was not long after Elena Semikina's discussion with Ken Taylor – the Canadian diplomat who orchestrated escape of six American hostages from Iran – that the film Argo hit the international film circuit reigniting interest in the story and garnering significant criticism for downplaying Canada's role in the ordeal.

Executive producer Semikina was already cultivating the germ of the documentary, Our Man in Tehran, alongside director Drew Taylor (no relation to Ken), when the major feature film hit.

"When Argo was shown, it was very evident right off the bat that it was very focused on one part of the story and left a large part of it, primarily the Canadian involvement [out]. It did show Ken Taylor, but he appeared in the feature film more as someone who was opening and closing doors, as he said, as opposed to being an integral part of the planning ... it was kind of a moment where we developed a sense of urgency to get this story out," Taylor recalls.

The plan was hatched to create a documentary in one year with hopes it would premiere at the Toronto International Film Festival, just as Argo had.

Semikina and Taylor were an unlikely pairing to create a full-length documentary. Aside from being crowned Miss Universe Canada in 2010, Russian-born Semikina is also an actor with a degree in marketing and finance from York University.

Drew Taylor, on the other hand, was a professional baseball player working on his PhD in biology.

If they were to realize their ambitious plan, they would need help.

Enter filmmaker Larry Weinstein of Rhombus Media.

"There was this talk going on of these new people who had not made a film before covering the Argo story in the documentary from Ken Taylor's point of view," said Weinstein, who co-directed with Drew Taylor.

The 34-year veteran of the industry was more accustomed to working on music-based docs than political ones, so the prospect wasn't immediately appealing.

"I wasn't sure I was interested, but the next day Drew Taylor arrived and he had Ken Taylor with him. Ken was so formidable and so's Drew. They were so focused. Ken said he would be able to bring certain people to the table," he said.

Two of those people: Joe Clark and Jimmy Carter.

"I thought, 'Oh boy, I can't really ignore this thing,'" Weinstein said.

Over the course of the winter, interviews were lined up, archives were dug out and the piece miraculously came together.

While the timeline was tight (many familiar with the process warned the newbie filmmakers that it likely wouldn't come together within their year goal), the drive to set the record straight on Canada's role in the hostage crisis seemed to motivate interviewees.

A decision was made early on to eschew narration, allowing the footage and subjects to speak for themselves. It makes the storytelling process harder, but gave much of the power back to the witnesses themselves.

According to the filmmakers, not only were Canadian voices missing in Ben Affleck's Argo, so too were Iranian perspectives.

"We have a lot of Iranian friends," Semikina explained. "After they saw Argo, they said, what else is new. It's kind of a trend [to ignore their perspective] and we just wanted to explore and show Iranian history and that Iranian culture is so rich and complex."

While Our Man in Tehran sets out to better represent the context and voices of the time and the events, the filmmakers aren't overly critical of Ben Affleck's Oscar-winning movie.

"In truth, Argo was not a bad film, it was a great film," Weinstein said.

The problem was, Canada's role in sneaking Americans out of Iran went so seamlessly, there wasn't much of a story to tell.

Scenes showing Iranian border guards chasing the escapees' plane as it left the runway, or of the Americans testing out their false identities at a Tehran marketplace were entirely fabricated to make the whole ordeal more exciting.

What the directors saw as more interesting was the larger context.

"The excitement was more in the revolution that was going on around them than in the household of Ken Taylor and John Sheardown," Taylor said.

Weinstein, Taylor and Semikina will all be at the Haliburton International Film Festival showing of Our Man in Tehran on Saturday, Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. Find more information about tickets at www.haliburton-movies.com/festival.html or call 705-286-3656.

Walking the mile

THE WALK A MILE In Her Shoes concept transcends the fundraiser model in a way that many events don't – or can't.

Besides providing an entertaining venue for residents to fork over cash to help the YWCA provide services to local women, it also asks us to do some soul searching.

The event is about more than money; it's about our society.

Are we doing all we can to protect every member of our community? Are services available? Are there safe places for women fleeing abuse? What obstacles are in their way?

For men, the event focusses the questions more sharply.

Walk A Mile is only open to male participants and it asks them to literally don a pair of women's high heel shoes.

The concept is brilliant – images of "everyday" type men ambling along in lipstick-red heels calls out for media attention – and the metaphor of putting on women's shoes to imagine the lives of women is equally inspired.

And who doesn't want to come out and support area firefighters, government workers, businessmen, fathers and grandfathers as they endure the pain of heels in such a delightfully festive way?

But beyond the superficial fun are some real facts that must have resonated with those men as they walked around Head Lake Park on Saturday morning.

Men are overwhelmingly the perpetrators of violence against women in our culture. In Canada in 2011, 83 per cent of calls to the police of violence against women were perpetrated by men.

In Haliburton County, there are 500 calls every year to the YWCA for help from local women.

While services exist to support women looking to get out of these dangerous and oppressive situations, it really is society that must change to fix any of this.

And the most important player in stopping violence against women is men.

Men must set examples for their children of how to treat others, how to solve conflict in a non-violent fashion, how to treat everyone with respect and dignity.

Men also must be unafraid to call out abusive and sexist actions and words that lead to a culture of violence.

The men who made their way, however slowly, around Head Lake Park last weekend are shining examples of that spirit.

Through the cold and the drizzle, they took steps toward ending violence.

Here's hoping more men will follow.

Santa Claus is coming

WE ARE IN the middle of Small Business Promotion Week and the BIA and Bank of Montreal are partnering together to celebrate. Please stop by, if you have not already done so, and check out our BIA display of our member stores and businesses and great pictures of BIA special events and beautification projects. Answer the BIA "test your knowledge question" and you could win a $50 cash prize.

Straw - do you need some for your garden? As our BIA stores dismantle their ColourFest displays, there will be some straw to give away. If you would like some, you are asked to contact me and I will arrange for you to get it. Email haliburtonbia@mail.com or call 705-457-3768.

It is interesting to me that while recently playing tourist far away from home, I was eager to see it all and to visit the shops and stores. I am reminded that visitors to Haliburton may feel the same way and that as residents we may overlook the cultural events of the Highlands and all that our shops and stores have to offer. Perhaps we should be tourists at home and visit anew!

Did you mark the special November BIA events on your calendar? One month until the Haliburton Village Santa Claus Parade! Friday, Nov. 22 at 6:30 p.m.

Thank you, in advance, to the Haliburton Lions Club who always organize an evening of delight for all ages! If you would like to enter a float in the parade or be part of the parade in any way, please contact Jim Frost at 705-457-4031. It is a wonderful and magical evening!

We are going ahead with Winter Warm Up right after the parade at the Haliburton Legion. You are sure to enjoy the spaghetti dinner provided by the Legion ladies and what could be more fitting and good fun than an after-the-parade Christmas sing-along with our own Carl Dixon? I hope to see you there!

Santa Day at Rails End Gallery is on for the day after the parade. More news about this event in my next column.

The agenda for this month's BIA executive meeting is full as usual. Discussions will include how best to support other winter events such as the Pond Hockey Tournament, Christmas decorations, feedback and the future of ColourFest and a new promotion: Men's Shopping Night in December. Meetings take place on the last Tuesday of the month at 6:15 p.m. in the meeting room of the Haliburton branch of the county library. All are welcome.

My life in heels

FOR THOSE OF YOU who drove by Haliburton's Head Lake Park on Saturday morning and saw scores of men cruising awkwardly in red high heels, rest easy – red heels are not in this fall.

What you actually saw was the second annual (as far as I know) Walk A Mile In Her Shoes event, in which walkers like me raised money and awareness for our local YWCA.

The organizers came to the conclusion that it takes red heels to create awareness – which is why we were wearing them.

Steve Galea
Loon Tales

Of course, we didn't buy that. Most of us assumed, in fact, that it probably started with a side bet about how many men they could get to walk a mile in red high heels. That's how we'd do it, after all.

No matter. The event had participants walk a literal mile in high heels in order to raise funds a worthy cause. There were tough, rugged men from all walks of life, as well as me, participating and a good amount of money raised.

If you were lurking on Facebook this weekend – as almost all of my friends apparently were – you might have seen a posting by Reeve Carol Moffatt showing a photo, with the caption "Steve Galea looks entirely too comfortable wearing high heels."

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank Reeve Moffatt for that witty comment, just two weeks before deer camp. I'm sure I'll have fun explaining it – each and every day of the hunt. The calls are already coming in.

In truth, I was comfortable in those heels. But so would anyone who has spent as much time as I have grouse hunting in the hills of Haliburton County. Walking in those heels simply reminded me of some of our more gentle inclines.

I was so comfortable, in fact, I believe I was the frontrunner in the one-mile event, finishing in record time.

This has led me to an idea that might actually help the YWCA recruit more men for next year's event.

We should make it a competition, and model it after NASCAR.

The way I see it, we men should be able to form teams, complete with pit crews and custom-made heels that are designed for racing. These might have good rubber on the bottom, sponsorship logos throughout and, most importantly roll bars for the inevitable falls.

The event, as I see it, should open with the waving of a checkered flag and end with a bottle of champagne being poured over the winner and his team. Rock music should abound.

Oh, and the track should be a little more intimidating. I'm talking high corners, hairpin turns and straight-aways that allow the drivers to get to breakneck speeds of up to two miles an hour.

Needless to say, this will take a bit of support. We'll need fire and rescue crews standing by, as well as colour commentators who will call out play by plays.

The added participation will mean more funding for the cause but it will also help women in other ways.

You see, if you allow men to develop high heels in a garage for racing, you'll soon see millions of dollars in technical innovations so that a whole different model of shoe developed. One that will handle well, provide a comfortable ride, be stylish and eventually make it to the mean streets for everyday use.

I believe we'll call them loafers.

October sky

Cracks in the bowl of October sky,
Its blueness draining away.

I stand on the road, a matchstick amongst the trees,
Leaves raining down on me.

I hold out my hands as an offering to the beauty of this morning.

A yellow leaf flutters into the nest of my palm.

I warm it with my breath, trace its veins that resemble my own before I offer it back to Wind that swirls it up and up and up, past the tree from which it came towards a crack in the bowl of blue sky that drizzles down on me.

I stand and watch the yellow leaf fly, passing its confines that fall.

Branches of trees flapping like wings.

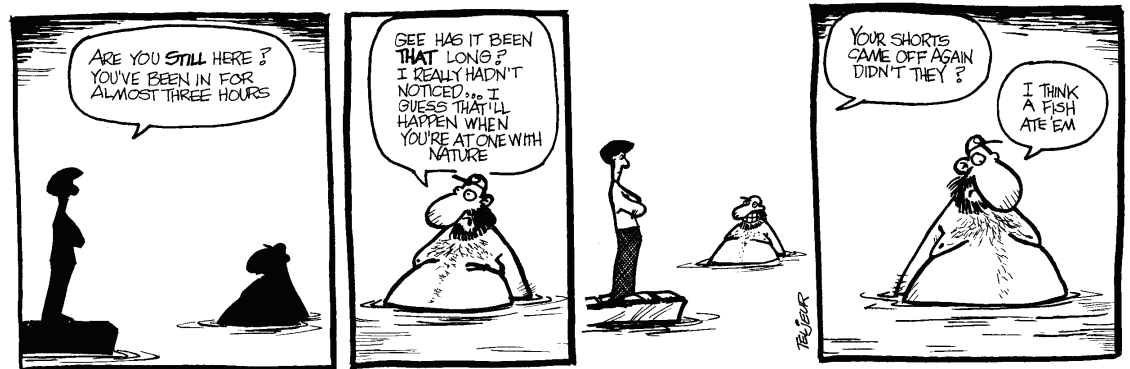

I join the leaf on its flight, my spirit ignited by the beauty of this moment,

Smoothing the cracks in my soul

As the bowl of October sky drenches it with light.

AH council keeps mail-in voting

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

Algonquin Highlands will stick with mail-in paper ballots for the 2014 municipal election.

Councillors for the township made that call at their Oct. 17 meeting after receiving a report on voting methods from clerk Dawn Newhook.

The report assessed the pros and cons of mail-in voting, as well as voting by Internet and telephone.

While Internet voting would bring fast and accurate results on voting night, for example, there was concern for residents who are not tech-savvy.

The report also examined finances, with two estimates from companies that conduct Internet/telephone voting.

One was for approximately $21,000, the other just less than $19,000.

However, Newhook told councillors the estimates didn't include supplies, advertising and other fees, which would amount to approximately $8,000, bringing the respective estimates to $29,000 and $26,750.

The 2010 municipal election, conducted using mail-in ballots, cost about $30,000.

Councillor Gord Henderson wondered if combining the methods – using mail-in ballots plus telephone and Internet – was an option.

“You could run both,” Newhook said, but added she thought this would cause public confusion and require additional administrative time.

It was Newhook's recommendation the township stick with mail-in ballots.

“The whole mail-in system has been fairly new,” said Deputy-reeve Liz Daniels, adding she thought residents were still adjusting to that change and that it was too early to make another.

The deputy-reeve also suggested that the township look at the expense of a tabulator machine, which could help alleviate pressures on staff time.

Reeve Carol Moffatt said a tabulator could be considered during upcoming budget discussions but questioned whether one was necessary, given the small township had a 35 per cent voter turnout in the last election.

“Ballot counting is not particularly onerous,” Moffatt said. “There's just not that many ballots.”

The reeve was more concerned about convenience for voters and noted that even with the recently completed Eastern Ontario Regional Network project, there were still pockets of Algonquin Highlands without high-speed Internet.

Moffatt also noted that the clerk was the person responsible for running the election and it was her recommendation to use mail.

Highlands East and Dysart et al council recently voted to continue the use of mail-in ballots for their townships' 2014 elections.

In Minden Hills, CAO Nancy Wright-Laking has recommended the township adopt Internet and telephone voting.

Wright-Laking introduced Internet voting in Peterborough when she was clerk for the city in 2006.

Councillors have deferred a vote on the matter until later this month and during the last discussion, there was some contemplation of a system that would combine mail-in ballots with telephone and Internet.

Silence

Skeleton of trees clattering as I pass.

I crave the silence of sunlight veiling the lake, swathing the bones of birches that impale the Blueness of October sky.

I crave the stillness of my favourite hill bleached gold and russet, pockets still green, that I yearn to plunge into, deeper, deeper, until summer is resurrected in my soul, before it was skinned like the skeletons of trees whose leaves bleed by the side of the road.

I wade through the carnage in my sneakers, their soles slipping against the leaves faces that crumple beneath my feet.

My heart mimicking the rhythm of October, the tautness of the drum of sky, as wind slices through clouds and the branches of trees.

Denuding them like October denudes me.

Silence mushrooming deep inside me, summer burrowed in its cave.

I wade through the graveyard of leaves, wondering whether they will rot before the first snow comes, and silence swathes them until next spring, when my feet tread bare across the earth again, caressing the stems of withered leaves, that sprout green again deep within.

I walk alone amongst the trees, their clatter consoling me, muzzling the silence spreading within me. I stop on the road and close my eyes, cup my face up to the sun, feeling bare and stripped and still as the bones of trees, impaling the flesh of October sky.

Students from across Ontario connect to forestry in Algonquin Park

From the history of logging in Algonquin Park to current forest management practices, 37 students and teachers from across southern Ontario had the opportunity to get the behind the scenes tour of forestry in one of Ontario's most popular parks.

The students and teachers, participating in Forestry Connects – a program of the Ontario Forestry Association – spent three days in the field learning about the value of forestry to Algonquin Park and the surrounding communities. They interacted with stakeholders in the forest management process and gained a greater understanding of the challenges in balancing multiple needs and goals. More than 20 schools from across Ontario applied to participate in the program. However, only nine were selected and included schools from Toronto, Brampton, Mississauga, Ottawa, Ingersoll, Stayner and Saugeen.

Now in its third year, the program aims to dispel myths about forestry while exposing high school students to the variety of careers available in the natural resources. In previous years program participants travelled to Dryden in Northwestern Ontario to learn about forest management in the boreal. Providing students with direct exposure to current forestry practices in Ontario can help to broaden the understanding of forestry in our province.

While many of the students and teachers arrived with little to no knowledge about forestry in Algonquin Park, all walked away with a new appreciation of the role that the industry plays in our province. Students cited the program as a great opportunity to be exposed to a variety of careers in forestry and to see Algonquin Park from a different perspective. Teachers indicated the invaluable opportunity to see forestry first-hand and learn about the planning that goes behind managing one of our most important resources.

Tricia Fitzpatrick, a teacher from Cawthra Park Secondary School in Mississauga, felt that the program helped to dispel many misconceptions she had about forestry in Ontario. "There are many misconceptions out there including how people equate forestry with deforestation and the idea that cutting down a tree is bad and that so much of the propaganda is that 'you don't cut'. But to see such forethought in the planning and to hear the foresters talk about sustainability and planning for the future, was eye opening." Participating teachers said that their approach to teaching forestry in their future classes would reflect a more positive image in forestry following this program. Teachers from previous years have indicated that past student participants enrolled in forestry and natural resource careers as a direct result of their involvement with Forestry Connects.

Partners from around Algonquin Park were critical in making the program a success. Special thanks go to County of Renfrew, Algonquin Forestry Authority, Ontario Parks, Ministry of Natural Resources, McRae Lumber and the Friends of Algonquin Park and to the Ontario Wood program.

Where did all the gobblers go?

Why if this Thanksgiving wasn't as different as purple socks on an elephant! It didn't start out that way. With all good intentions it was going to be a regular Hallmark classic ...turkey provided by Vilma Yuccch and her sweetie, Officer Stanley Penelope McBottom, with yours truly roasting it. (Neither of them cook. Open their fridge doors and all you'll see are take-out menus and ketchup. Oh, and little packets of soy sauce, don'tcha know.)

Twindle Mumbly was planning on bringing the cranberry sauce. Sybil Beaucannon Hughes was bringing her sweet potato pie. Beanpole Starkman was providing green beans and sausage stewzolie (a concoction he insists on bringing every year that his late Uncle Farkman Starkman used to make). And you know what?

It's delish! Two Alka-seltzers later and you're a new man (or gal).

As for me ... ol' Maybelle was going to make the stuffing and gravy along with roasting the bird. Did you catch the word: WAS? Well, here's what happened...

All the turkeys in Lake WhaddyathinkI mean went on strike ... every single one of them. It may be hard to believe, but they got together and somehow managed to disappear. I guessed something was up when my pet bear, Bogart, started walking around wearing dark glasses. The last time that happened he was protecting a family of mice that were squatting in my mudroom! As much as Bogart loves me and all our friends, he lives by the oath of the forest: Always protect your fellow critters.

Well, it wasn't just us who couldn't find a turkey. Our local butcher and farmers were de-gobbed, too. One minute their yards were flush with them, the next ... they were gone.

Now here's the stunning part ... instead of going on a massive gobbler-hunt, the whole town got creative and came up with something else to serve. In fact, it turned into a full out contest. The winner would be crowned Hero of the Feast and presented with two arm's lengths of tickets for the next Lake W Legion meat draw, don'tcha know.

Well, the response was over-the-moon-terrific, which was good because time was running short. Thanksgiving was in two days and what would we serve for our big feast? What would we give thanks for? Smack our lips and rub our tummies for? Talk about for the next three weeks?

The legion was packed with brainstormers. Round tables and long were filled with yapping lips spouting and sprouting ideas.

Beanpole Starkman suggested serving cranberry sauce and peanut butter sandwiches. Vilma Yuccch envisioned a heap of chopped liver moulded into the shape of a turkey with lettuce leaves for feathers. Sybil loved the idea of a feast of roasted vegetables with bread stuffing and strawberry gravy.

Ol' Maybelle had another idea. Why not make Thanksgiving about something other than sharing food? Why not something else that inspires gratitude at harvest time? In fact, why not expand the idea of what harvest means altogether? What else can we harvest? What else is it that we can share? Give? Be thankful for?

Bogart liked the idea and jumped right in. This is what he wrote on the Legion white board-LET'S HARVEST MORE LOVE.

Why, if that didn't gobsmack the room. Silence hung on the air like frozen spinach in an ice storm. Everybody looked at each other. Eyes locked. Smiles grew. Heads nodded.

"You got one smart bear there, Maybelle," shouted Leander Mosskinny.

"I like it," he said.

Why if my ol' heart didn't swell up like an inner tube.

"Sure," I said. "It doesn't matter what we eat. We harvest more love just by being with friends and family ... letting them know we care ... serving up a poem or a joke or a song, a jig or ... a hug."

Two days later, the turkeys were still missing, but Thanksgiving dinner at ol' Maybelle's filled us with laughter, love, cranberry sauce and peanut butter sandwiches ... chopped liver turkey mould ... roasted veggies with strawberry gravy... and Farkman Starkman's green bean and sausage stewzolie casserole.

As for the Hero of the Feast' ... he was standing right beside me with a big smile on his face and a pot of honey in his paw.

Turkey Tournament tests character

Red Hawks varsity B forward Rika Takaki evades a Holy Cross Catholic Secondary School Hurricanes defender in the Turkey Tournament at the Gary G. Brohman Athletic Field in Haliburton on Wednesday, Oct. 16. The tournament included host varsity A and B teams from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, Holy Cross and North Hastings High School. The Red Hawks varsity B team finished with one win and one loss while varsity A finished undefeated through two games.

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

When the varsity A Red Hawks field hockey team invited teams to their annual Turkey Tournament little did they know they would get their toughest test.

When the Holy Cross Catholic Secondary School Hurricanes jumped to a 1-nil lead in the first half it was a great time to see how the Red Hawks would respond, having never been in that situation this season, said coach Caley Sisson.

"This was the first time for the team this year and I think it was a great learning opportunity and experience for all, especially going into play-offs next week. The team proved their strength and battled back, dominating play in the second half," Sisson said, referring to the 2-1 win over the Hurricanes. "Each team will be different next week and the girls most certainly noticed that in their game against Holy Cross. They have improved a great deal since we played them in mid- September and they will be a contender for the Kawartha League Championship on Monday." This exhibition tournament includes varsity A and B teams of North Hastings High School and Holy Cross.

Even with rain the night before, the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School pitch held up well, Sisson said.

The squad finished undefeated with a pair of wins (1-nil against North Hastings High School and 2-1 against Holy Cross).

Connor Marsden finished with two goals and Erin Little scored the other in the second game, against the Hurricanes.

Sisson welcomed the competition and saw a lot of great things from her goalkeeper.

"Sydney Cameron had a great two games, got quite a bit of action against North Hastings and stood strong, finishing with a shut-out," Sisson said.

Varsity A played an exceptional game against North Hastings to open the tournament.

"It's was wonderful to watch as both teams possess key stick handling skills, speed and play the game well," she said.

NHHS pushed the Red Hawks, whose defence played well to preserve the shut-out.

Sisson attributed the strong defence to defenders Maddie Allore, who "cleared the ball away quickly," and midfielders, Erin Little, Becca Anderson and Kendall Marsden, who "moved the ball well, played fantastic defence and generated many offensive plays that gave our forwards many scoring opportunities."

Win and close loss for varsity B

"The B's had a great day, holding North Hastings off to a 2-0 loss. They played well and were tested against North Hastings. Rookie goalie Sydney Feir played very well, demonstrating confidence and determination to keep North Hastings at bay. Their game against Holy Cross was a 6-0 win ... they moved the ball well and kept pressure throughout the game. This was reflected in the score," Sisson said.

Note: Red Hawks goals came from forward Cierra Hurley, who scored a hat-trick, Jamie Little, Abby Gordon and Rika Takaki in the Holy Cross win.

This story does not include the Kawartha League playoff results, as it happened after the paper's press time.

Red Hawks too much for Knights

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

Physical domination personified.

There wasn't much doubt about the senior Red Hawks football team's chances for victory when the Norwood District High School Knights came to Gary G. Brohman Athletic Field.

It was an example of the great fitness and physical strength of the team, coach Tim Davies said.

Despite a pair of missed opportunities in the red zone on the first few offensive drives, the Red Hawks made up for it with 38 unanswered points in the fourth win of the season for the senior squad (now 4-1-0).

Led by four touchdowns (three rushing and reception from quarterback Devon Upton) from tailback Tom Paul, who also added a pass completion for close to 15 yards, the Red Hawks were never threatened by the (junior/senior) Norwood varsity team.

They have been a strength for the team all season.

With a commanding 20-0 lead, the Red Hawks spread the ball around getting handoffs to not only Paul, but also Tanner Hamilton, Cooper Sherlock and Jake Ruddell.

Sherlock and Ruddell, who have been the proverbial battering ram for many of the team's rushing plays, scored a touchdown each.

Davies, who said the team came to him at half and asked to get Ruddell the ball for a scoring chance, appreciated team's gesture for their teammate, complying with a short rushing play for the touchdown to end the game.

The lopsided score didn't stop the coach from thinking of improving.

"We're getting better physically with everybody doing their jobs ... We're still getting better on both sides of the ball, as I think was evident in today's game," Davies said.

Midget B girls remain undefeated

The Minden Car Quest Highland Storm Midget B girls took their early season undefeated record into Pickering on Saturday afternoon to take on the Durham West Lightning trying to keep their first place ranking in place. The Storm had many chances in the first period and Alicia McLean capitalized on a nice rush down the boards putting a wrister past the Lightning goalie midway through the first period. Durham West never gave up and turned up the pressure the bulk of the game through their strength of good skating and puck handling and knotted the score at 1-1 early in the third period. The see-saw battle added much excitement to the closely contested match-up. Connor Marsden made the save of the game (as well as being named player of the game - coach's pick), where with 50 seconds left in the game, a penalty shot was awarded to the Lightning squad. Connor Marsden "shut the front door" on the Durham West shooter to preserve the tie. The Storm remain undefeated with a 2-0-1 record but will be put to the test this Friday night in Minden at 7 p.m. as they take on the strong Ennismore Eagles Bs. Good luck, ladies - and keep up the determined efforts.

Four days of fantastic hockey

The Highland Storm's Smolen Dentistry Bantam A Team has had a full 4 days of fantastic hockey.

They travelled to Oakwood on Thursday evening to take on Mariposa for the first time this season and came out victorious winning 6-0. A great shut out for Josh Bellefleur playing a great game. The game had a slow start with no goals in the first period. Our first of the game for Matt Wilbee assisted by Nolan Flood and Ethan Keefer early in the second, then shortly after Matt Wilbee scored his second of the night assisted again by Nolan Flood and Josh Boice. We were able to score once more before the end of the second period, a goal by Nolan Flood assisted by Matt Wilbee and Owen Smith. Then in the third Matt Wilbee got his hat trick assisted by Owen Patterson-Smith, then Ethan Keefer scored assisted by Chase Burden and then Owen Patterson-Smith scored our final goal assisted by Matt Wilbee and Jacob Bishop. Great game!

On Friday we headed to Huntsville to the Bob Beaumont Memorial Tournament and faced Collingwood in our first game. We started off the game late in the first with a goal by Matt Wilbee unassisted and fought off end to end play and managed to score again in the third by Jacob Bishop from a nice pass from Payton Miscio. At the end of the game the referee's awarded the Collingwood Team a goal that baffled the on looking parents ending the game as we thought with a victory 2-1, with great goaltending from Parker Smolen. Later we found out that Collingwood had put a protest in and that we were to play them on Saturday for the longest game ever, one minute and 17 seconds. And what a game it turned out to be, within seven seconds into the game Matt Wilbee scored unassisted and then with three seconds on the board Payton Miscio scored on an empty net. Final 4-1. We won against Pembroke Saturday 6-0 goals went to Kyle Cooper assisted by Payton Miscio, another by Kyle Cooper assisted by Owen Patterson-Smith, Chris Thompson assisted by Ethan Keefer, Owen Patterson-Smith assisted by Payton Miscio and Ethan Keefer, Ethan Keefer assisted by Payton Miscio and the last goal to Nolan Flood assisted by Chris Thompson, Josh Bellefleur with a good shutout. Later in the day we played Sturgeon Lakes and won 12-0, the boys were very strong and played well with great passes and teamwork, and a shutout for Parker Smolen. The semi final game was against Clarington and the toughest game thus far in the tournament and we were able to squeak out a 2-1 win. A goal for Matt Wilbee assisted by Nolan Flood and Ethan Keefer and our second goal by Chase Burden assisted by Greg Crofts and Chris Thompson. The final championship game against BCH, the game started off slow and end to end with no goals until the third period when Owen Patterson-Smith broke away and got one by their goaltender, 1-0 for us but right near the end of the game BCH got one back to tie the game and send us into over time. A truly nail biting experience to watch as we played short handed for over one minute in OT playing four on three, then three on three and finally two on two, when the puck got out deep in front where Matt Wilbee took his time and waited for the perfect moment to score the winning goal. Undefeated A champs.

Peewee A win one, lose one

The Highland Storm Dollo's Foodland Peewee A team lost the first game to Parry Sound 7-3 but came back to win the second game 7-2 in the Haliburton arena on Saturday. In Game 1 Parry Sound struck first with a goal early in the first period but Storm came back with goals by Nick Dollo and Owen Gilbert to end the period leading 2-1. The second period saw Parry Sound strike back with four goals until the Storm team could finally put one in with a goal by Lucas Haedeke on a pass from Nigel Smith. Parry Sound came back with a goal on a two on one pass and shoot to end the period up 6-3. Highland Storm tried to put pressure on in the third period but it was not their game as Parry Sound scored one more time to end the game winning 7-3.

Game 2 again saw Parry Sound open the scoring early in the first period. Storm quickly came back with a goal by Nick Dollo off a rebound. Nigel Smith later deked the Parry Sound defence and put one in from the slot to put Storm up 2-1. There was great uninterrupted end-to-end action for about six minutes. Finally, Lucas Haedeke scored with just eight seconds remaining in the period. In the second period Haedeke struck again catching the Parry Sound goalie out of position with a sharp angle shot from the left of the crease to put Storm up 4-1. The play was intense with Highland Storm showing great strength battling for puck possession. Storm goalie Carson Sisson made some great stops and showed good poise on scrambles around the net. Highland Storm scored again in the first minute of the third period with Ryan Hall making a long shot that the Parry Sound goalie could not handle. Parry Sound did not give up but Sisson kept stopping whatever they shot at him. Nigel Smith then scored two more goals with the first off the rebound of a Nick Dollo shot and then on a breakaway from the Storm blue line putting in the puck with a deke around the Parry Sound goalie to earn a hat-trick. Parry Sound got one in late in the third to end the game 7-2 for Highland Storm. Highland Storm Peewee A plays a home tournament next Saturday in Minden and Sunday in Haliburton.

Two shutouts for Novice Storm

Parry Sound travelled to Minden to play a double header against the Canadian Tire Novice Storm on Saturday, Oct. 12. Brody Prentice opened up the scoring for the Storm with his first goal of the season assisted by Evan Gilbert and Walker Nesbitt. It was like Damon Harriss woke up in the morning and said no one is scoring on me today. They more they shot the stronger he got. With a one goal lead and a talk at the bench, the Storm came out flying in the second period. Gage Hutchinson scored assisted by Brayden Billings. Not letting up, the Storm come back with another quick goal by Matthew Vargas assisted by Zander Upton. As the period ended Vargas scored assisted by Nesbitt to end the period. Starting the third the Storm were up by four with the momentum on their side, Vargas scored his first natural hat trick of the season assisted by Logan Tripp. With Vargas on a roll he scored his fourth goal less than a minute apart assisted by Nesbitt. With Parry Sound fighting back as hard as they could the Storm would not stop. Scoring by Hutchinson assisted by Upton, Vargas assisted by Kaine Brannigan and Kyan Hall ending the scoring unassisted. Storm win the game 9-0 giving Harriss his first shut out of the season.

Game 2

At 3:30 p.m. the Storm and the Shamrocks took the ice again to play their second game. The Storm came out flying scoring a quick goal by Prentice assisted by Gilbert. With both teams fighting back and forth Hall ends the period with a goal assisted by Gilbert and Nesbitt. With both teams coming back in the second pretty evenly matched the storm regrouped scored three goals in the second from Gilbert assisted by Brannigan, Hutchinson assisted by Gilbert and Brannigan and Hall ending the period with a goal unassisted. The Storm working more and more as a team scored three more in the third by Vargas assisted by Tripp, Gilbert unassisted and Hutchinson unassisted. The storm pulled of their second win of the day with a 8-0 giving Harriss another shutout. The next game for the Novice storm is Sunday, Oct. 20 in Little Britain.

Great fun at Abbey Gardens on Saturday when under the tent music was played by the fiddlers, guitars and mandolins and keyboard players who jam twice a month as Celtic musicians. They were followed by the Abbey North Drummers, all of which was background from the people taking hayrides on the Cox wagon, sampling the delicious food or delighting in face-painting. The main store was open as well and samples of Linda Wooton's tea varieties were offered as was the shortbread and fruitcake by Janet Barker of Linkert Bakery in Wilberforce.

Oct. 19 was also the date for Scottish Country Dancers to enjoy their fall ball at the Guilford Centre. As always, the group is enlarged by dancers from other areas including Toronto, Peterborough, Orillia and Waterloo. Five sets of eight made the scene lively and judging by the laughter, happy as well. The buffet served halfway through the sets was indeed bountiful, delicious and waited on by Marlene Maxwell and her sister, Una.

Shireen Cooper has come from Moncton to spend a few days with her mother in Markham and then to cook at the Cooper Hunt Camp for the week of moose hunting.

Peewee AE never gives up

Highland Storm's Haliburton Family Medical Centre's Peewee AE team travelled to South River on Sunday to play their second match against the Almaguin Devils. Although the Devils won handily last week, this was a much more spirited effort this time around. Highland Storm controlled much of the first period but the Devils' back-stopper was up to the task. Storm goalie, Jaxson Campbell had to make some excellent saves later in the period and was exceptional throughout the game.

Almaguin scored late in the first but the Storm kept pressure and deserved to be rewarded. Another goal early in the third sealed the fate of our Storm players. The final score was 2-0 but our squad never gave up and should be congratulated for a spirited effort.

Bantam A team ties South Muskoka

The Smolen Dentistry Storm Bantam A team travelled to Bracebridge on Saturday to take on the South Muskoka team for the first time this season. The game was a back and forth showdown with South Muskoka scoring their first goal late in the first period. The second period again seemed to go back and forth with fantastic goal tending by Josh Bellefleur for the Storm. Some technical difficulties with the scoreboard put the team into an early intermission and when they came back they played 2:38, with no score to end the second period. Third period action brought the Storm coming out strong with Owen Smith scoring to get us on the board with assists from Nolan Flood and Jacob Bishop and shortly after Greg Crofts scored putting us ahead 2-1 with assists from Chris Thompson and Chase Burden. It seemed to be a very long period for this spectator to watch our boys battle off the opposing team, but near the end of the third South Muskoka managed to tie up the game, for a final tie of 2-2. The Bantams have a home tournament this coming weekend in Haliburton Saturday playing at 9 a.m., 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. The tournament finals in Minden Sunday. Come out and cheer on your hometown boys!

Bantam AE Storm have busy weekend

Tom Prentice Trucking's Bantam AEs had a busy weekend with three games over three days this past weekend. It all started with a Friday night tilt against emerging rivals, the Huntsville Otters in Haliburton. Coming off a loss to the Otters the week before, showed that this was a team to be reckoned with and Huntsville was out to prove that the win was no fluke. It was a tight first period with both teams getting chances early. Storm goalie, Ryan Hannah, continued his consistent play by making some key saves which allowed our boys to find their stride. By the end of the period, Matt Manning's shot found its way over to Ben Schmidt at the face-off circle who buried it to take the lead. The second period started with Huntsville tying it up 30 seconds into the period. Only a half a minute later though, Carter O'Neill fed Alex Petrie who strode across the blue line and wristed a shot under the arm of the Otter tender to regain the lead. It wasn't long before Huntsville found themselves on a breakaway to tie it up once again. The third period devolved into a penalty-filled affair with both teams taking some unnecessary offences. Neither team was able to take advantage though, and the game ended in a 2-2 tie.

The following day the boys travelled to Sundridge to play against the Almaguin Devils. Although the Storm started with an early goal by Jake Bull who slapped in a rebound from Alec Stoughton, the boys were listless and displayed little effort throughout the first two periods. Goals came fast and furious and the squad found themselves down by five goals by the end of the second. Whatever coach Jason Billings said to the team during the break seemed to work though because the unit showed much better determination in the third. Neither team was able to score but the boys showed that they can play against this team if they choose to grit their teeth and show some resolve.

On Sunday the team travelled to Manvers for their first game against the Mustangs. It was a spirited start but by mid-period the unit found themselves down by two. With three minutes left though, Alec Stoughton forwarded the puck Alex Petrie who shot low glove side to score. With less than a minute left, Sam Longo's wrap-around evened things up but it was short-lived; the Mustangs scored a scant seven seconds later to take the lead into the second. In the second, Aiden Garbutt passed up to Jon Morrison who crossed the line and pocketed a nice shot to even it up once again but Manvers scored twice more before the end of the period. In the third, Zak Shantz banged in a rebound off Jon Morrison's shot to bring it back to within one but it was not enough. The Mustangs scored again to make it a final score of 6-4. Something seems to be missing from this team over the past two weeks and it will be interesting to see how they respond to their first taste of adversity

What was that line: "If you build it, they will come?" Well, the Wilberforce Agricultural Society volunteers have over the years built a tradition of serving a delicious hearty Thanksgiving dinner for a very reasonable price. And people have annually enjoyed the feast. This year they came in such amazing numbers that very early the providers ran out of food. Success as a fundraiser; disappointment for those at the end of the line. How difficult it is to estimate how many will attend and how much to prepare. Only dedicated volunteers continue to offer such events.

Thanks to all of them.

This Thursday afternoon Oct. 24 you are invited to join Wilberforce Heritage Guild members at the historic Red Cross Outpost for some trips into the past. Recently the WHG has been the recipient of a number of interesting scrapbooks. The family of the late Shirley (Forbes) Stamp of Tory Hill donated the collection she had created over several decades. They will be available for viewing and chatting about between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Also on hand will be a scrapbook and photo album of the former Wilberforce Volunteer Police Association. Tea will be served. This will also be an opportunity for visitors to see the recent improvements at the Outpost including an accessible washroom.

Members of St. Margaret's Anglican Church and the Rev. Canon Anne Moore welcomed the Rt. Rev. Linda Nicholls, area bishop for Trent Durham region of the Toronto Diocese on Sunday, Oct. 20. The bishop led the service and preached. Her visit to the parish included a service at St. George's in Haliburton earlier in the day. A time of fellowship over lunch was greatly appreciated. The ice is in at the Keith Tallman arena and winter sports there have begun. Teams in the County Hockey League played there from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 19.

Public skating is available every Sunday from 12:30 to 2 p.m. The Recreational Figure Skating Club has registration for this season and a skate scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 22 beginning at 5:30 p.m. Lessons by coach Guy Gordon will be on Tuesdays from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Cost is $130 for the season. An additional immediate family member may sign up for $110. More information is available from Kathy at 705-448-2185, Tamara at 705-448-9807 or Sandra at 705-448-1524.

Now here's a great idea. Combine Halloween fun and skating. Such an event for all ages will take place at the arena here on Saturday, Oct. 26 from 5 to 7 p.m. Admission is by donation.

The Library Launcher committee is offering this fun time as a fundraiser for furnishings for the new library. Prizes will be given for the best costumes. Wow, at least two times to dress up this year! And bring along a pre-carved pumpkin - ah yes a scary jack-o'-lantern. Enter it in a contest to win a cash prize. Entry fee is $2 per pumpkin. Enjoy this family fun with games, refreshments, skating and other surprises.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

IMPROVING YOUR PROPERTY

QUESTION: How can I buy a home as an investment and increase its value for resale?

ANSWER: Seriously consider prospecting for "diamonds in the rough." Older homes in solid neighborhoods may be priced below the market because of their condition. Profit wise, nothing comes close to rehab in the area of multiplying resale profits – provided the improvements have been well thought out and costs carefully controlled,

A couple of thousand dollars improving the right home could show over $10,000 worth of increase immediately. However, never OVER IMPROVE a house above its comparable market value.

NEVER OVERIMPROVE a home so it will be priced out of its comparable market price.
